

Client-Server Architecture static response vs dynamic response static response :: No change in the output for every user

Dynamic response :: Output would change based on the user request location of third party library

